

Why is Fusion the Ethernet & SDSL Specialist?

Fusion work with the most reputable business network carriers to deliver our services. We utilize existing infrastructure already in place to help deliver connectivity as efficiently and quickly as possible . This firmly places Fusion in a unique position when it comes to choosing your ISP. Why?

1) Our network coverage is massive. We have access to more points of presence and exchanges than any other UK provider. Fusion's network includes the coverage of all suitable business carriers.

2) Resilience can easily be provided. Not just resilience at a virtual level, but down to fundamental physical connectivity routed via diverse network routes (a physically separate route back to our network).

3) We have bespoke wholesale agreements in place enabling Fusion to provide the most competitive pricing anywhere in the UK (in 99% of cases, cheaper than the carrier directly).

So what makes Fusion a "specialist"?

We have experience in delivering bespoke services for our customers. We know the industry, management, and we know who we can trust to help support Fusion deliver the most resilient and affordable services that your business will rely upon.

You will have a dedicated account manager who liaises with all teams and reports to the client directly. We'll even liaise with your IT company if you want us to, and arrange access to your premises with any remote offices directly.

If you need to talk to someone within the company, we don't place any hurdles in the way. We're easy to work with, and we like to communicate.
